Large supplies of Mash and Materials Located

One of the largest confiscations of stills, mash and illegal whiskey in the history of Pickaway county was made by state officers working with Police Chief W. F. McCrady Friday afternoon in Monroe township.

Fred Garvey, Jr., 26, of Five Points, was arrested and taken to Columbus, Friday night, to face charges in federal court.

Officers said the raid was made on the farm of Charles Arledge, about half way between Williamsport and Five Points.

They confiscated three stills, one of 300 gallon capacity, another 100, and the third, 75 gallons, 28 barrels of mash each containing 50 gallons, 40 gallons of whiskey, two 50-gallon condenser barrels, two gasoline pressure tanks and burners and 100 pounds of rye grain.

Others May Be Implicated

An investigation is being conducted by the officers concerning other persons said to have been implicated in the operation of the stills.

All the stills and equipment were in a small woods about 150 feet from a roadway, the officers said.

The largest of the three stills was being operated by Garvey when the men arrived on the scene.

Fred Garvey, Sr., 80, of Williamsport, was arrested at the time of the raid, but after lengthy questioning Friday night he was released.

The elder Garvey appeared at the scene while the raid was under way and seated himself in his son's automobile. He told officers his (Continued on Page Two)

BERGER REPORTS BIG 'VOLUNTEER' CROP OF WHEAT

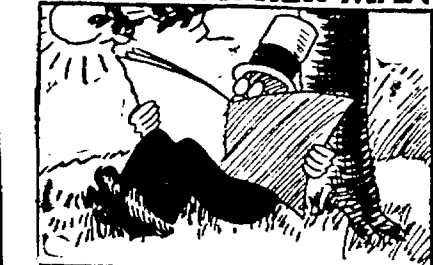

One of the most unusual records in local history—19 bushels an acre of volunteer wheat—was reported Saturday.

The crop was threshed on the farm of Herman Berger, of Washington township.

Last year the wheat crop in the 13-acre field was cut with a binder and there was considerable "shattering." Berger sowed alfalfa in the field, but the crop was poor and he decided to harvest his unusual wheat crop.

Although there have been previous reports of volunteer wheat harvested in the county, no record yields had been reported.

New Union?

REPORTS that have been circulating in Washington of an attempt to set up a united labor organization, to absorb both the rival A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., have not received much credence. The plan, it is said, calls for the setting up of a new department, to be known as the "mass production department" and to displace both William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and John L. Lewis, chairman of the C. I. O., with George Harrison, above, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Lewis has become such a dominating figure it is questionable whether he could be displaced.

Carney recently was tried and acquitted in common pleas court here on charges of taking $6050 in bribes in connection with the qualification of stock of the defunct Consolidated Motors Corp. of Lima.

Carney, who had been with the division for four years, said he had several offers to enter private business.

During Carney's leave, Dan T. Moore has been appointed chief of the division, succeeding B. Frank Thomas, resigned.

Thief Misses Some Money in Pocketbook

A purse containing eye glasses, keys and a small amount of change was stolen early Saturday from the Kuhns residence, 118 W. High street. It was the property of Miss Veronica Kuhns, employee of the Gas Co.

Mrs. Mary Kuhns, her mother, was sleeping in the downstairs of the home when she was awakened about dawn by someone walking in the house. The burglar ran out the back door, and escaped. Another purse, belonging to Mrs. Kuhns, had been opened and was thrown on the floor. It contained some money, but the burglar failed to open the side of the purse in which it was concealed.

Mrs. Kuhns told police the burglar was "small", but she was uncertain whether he was a boy or a man.

The death toll of the summer's first prolonged heat wave shot past 150 today, as thermometers climbed to record and near-record heights for the fourth consecutive day.

A scorching week-end was in sight for nearly two-thirds of the United States, and with it the possibility of a serious increase in traffic fatalities and drownings as hundreds of thousands sought relief in the countryside.

The government's general forecast for the heat area was "generally fair" and "continued warm". Local thunderstorms added to the already oppressive humidity, brought no general cooling-off.

Forecasters said no general relief was in sight.

Texas escaped the heat in cooling rains. Temperatures in the

FORD ATTACKS OUSTER FROM MANY ANGLES

CHILLICOTHE, July 10.—Mayor James E. Ford's plan of attack against ouster proceedings was revealed in a plea in abatement and motion for dismissal filed in common pleas court.

The mayor charges invalidity of signatures under four headings, duplications, misrepresentations by circulators of petition, about 150 singers unaffiliated as electors, and that the complaint was not served on the mayor.

The hearing will start in common pleas court Monday with Judge Harris W. Jewell, Delaware, on the bench. The judge was assigned by Chief Justice Carl V. Waygant.

GROWERS PLAN SOYBEAN TOURS

Farmers to Come to City Aug. 23 to Witness Demonstration

Farmers of Ohio will gather in Circleville the morning of Aug. 23 to see soybeans, one of the newer crops, growing on the John E. Walters farm in Circleville township. Tests of seven varieties are being made in a demonstration field there through arrangement with F. K. Blair, county farm agent.

The farmers who make the tour will be in charge of Dr. J. B. Park, of the agronomy department of Ohio State university.

Other tours are planned through the state Aug. 23, 24, 25 and 26 stops at Millford Center, Morrow, Piqua, Marion, Upper Sandusky, Dunkirk, Van Wert.

Soybeans are being tested at each of the meeting places. Different kinds of soybeans vary greatly in their desirability for use for hay and also for grain production. New varieties are being brought out occasionally, and to find which of the old and the new ones are best adapted for use in all parts of Ohio, the field tests are most practical. Farmers then can see which soybean makes the best growth in their locality.

One of the features at the meeting will be an exhibit car built and equipped by the Pennsylvania railroad. Soybean products have been used in making castings for the car and to form such fittings as door knobs, seat arms, and window sills. Exhibits of many soybean products will be set up within the car which will be placed on a siding in the town nearest the meeting place.

The growing interest in soybeans in Ohio will draw many growers to the national soybean meeting to be held at Urbana, Illinois, September 14, 15, 16. At this meeting, Dr. Park states, reports of work done with this crop in all states will be given.

Airplanes Continue To Hunt For Flyers

Area Large As Texas to Be Scoured

Arrival of Lexington and Many Pilots Last Hope of Amelia, Noonan

HONOLULU, July 10.—(UP)—Hope for the rescue alive of Miss Amelia Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan, her navigator, lost nine days on the Pacific ocean, grew dim today, but the navy, lending every facility to the great search, planned a final careful check of an area the size of Texas before giving up.

Three planes from the battleship Colorado have searched the Phoenix islands, southeast of Howland island, Miss Earhart's objective on a flight from New Guinea, for three days without finding a trace. Today they were to resume the search, sweeping over Canton island and its adjacent waters. The three pilots already have surveyed McKean, Gardner, Carondelet and other islands in the sparsely charted group.

Hope Lies With Lexington

Greatest hope for success, if the fliers still live, lies with the planes being rushed to the area by the carrier Lexington. With scores of pilots and observers coming aboard every mile of the great expanse after the Lexington arrives—probably Sunday—it is believed the big $80,000 plane in which Miss Earhart hoped to circle the globe will be picked up if it is on land or still floats.

Belief that the search by the Lexington's aerial armada will be futile grew in the minds of many close to the hunt, however. There was no official announcement, and one navy official said the search will not be "effectively started until the Lexington arrives" but privately those aboard the Colorado felt the chances of finding the fliers alive is now one in a thousand.

M'CARREN HEADS MOVE TO DEFEAT JUDICIARY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 10—(UP)—Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., took up the battle against the administration's substitute judiciary bill today by charging that it "will never come to a vote" because it is "worse than the original bill."

Charging the senate leadership with "unfair" tactics, McCarran said that the opposition was ready to vote any time the administration would propose to present to the people a constitutional amendment embodying the "essence" of the court issue.

McCarran, who held the floor when the senate recessed yesterday, said he would speak the entire afternoon as a result of Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson's decision to apply pressure for action on the bill by holding the senate in session on Saturday despite short tempers and sweltering heat.

Few senate veterans believed that any action by the senate leadership could force the bill to a vote unless some entirely unexpected development changed the opposition attitude. Foes of the bill claimed 44 definite votes against it—enough to prevent a vote for many months—and the most optimistic claim of the supporters was 52 votes.

As a result, it appeared likely the senate would scrap over the bill for a month, go into night and probably all-night sessions and finally be forced to postpone action indefinitely.

NEW AIR FLEET AIDS LOYALISTS IN BILBAO AREA

HENDAYE, French - Spanish Frontier, July 10—(UP)—A new Loyalist air fleet has taken the air on the Bilbao-Santander front and is raining bombs on nationalist positions and nationalist warships, reports reaching the frontier said today.

It was asserted that a squadron of 16 airplanes dropped 100 bombs near two nationalist warships, the cruiser Almirante Cervera and an armed auxiliary. Though the ships were not struck, the reports said, they were driven away and thus blockade of the coast was broken temporarily, permitting the entry of food ships.

The same 16 planes, it was said, raided Bilbao eight times yesterday, bombing the port, blast furnaces and military objectives.

FORD'S HEARING POSTPONED FOR WEEK-END REST

DETROIT, July 10—(UP)—The National Labor Relations board's hearing into charges the Ford Motor company violated the Wagner Labor act was recessed today until Monday when remaining witnesses to the Ford riot of May 26 will be called.

Laurence A. Knapp, chief counsel for the board, indicated that the riot phase of the hearing will be completed Monday with the presentation of evidence by three newspaper photographers and persons who witnessed disorders near the Ford plant on Schaeffer road. Still waiting to testify were two policemen of suburban Melvindale and women members of the emergency brigade, auxiliary of the United Automobile Workers of America who were arrested and later released by police of the city of Dearborn.

LANCASTER, July 10—(UP)—Albert R. Hedrick, was killed and his nephew of the same name, suffered a possible fractured skull, fractured right leg and arm Friday night in an auto collision two miles south of Carroll. Both men lived at 540 Armstrong street, Columbus.

The elder Hedrick died early Saturday in Lancaster city hospital. The hospital reported the younger Hedrick spent a "comfortable night."

The accident was blamed on a blow-out. Officers said the blow-out caused the Hedrick car to crash into a car driven by Bert Wilson, Somerset. Three persons in the Wilson car suffered minor cuts and bruises.

RUST, CRICKETS ACTIVE

Grasshoppers Cause Damage in Several States

WASHINGTON, July 10—(UP)—Continued hot, dry winds spread the threat of drought across the middlewestern plains today imperiling the best crop prospects in recent years, the department of agriculture reported.

Grasshoppers, Mormon crickets and black stem rust presented an additional menace to crops in many localities, the department said.

Weather the rest of this month, the department's crop reporting board said, will have a "strong bearing" on the outcome of the corn and spring wheat crops.

Drought conditions have not yet become critical, the board said, but "the corn crop is urgently in need of rain in the Great Plains area and has been hurt by dry weather in parts of the South and was planted late in some northern areas."

Grasshoppers Numerous

Grasshoppers, Mormon crickets and stem rust have caused damage in sections of the middlewest, completely destroying crops in some areas. Grasshoppers have been especially numerous in Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

The department said "the worst Mormon cricket outbreak in history" is taxing federal and state resources in the northwest and already has done considerable damage to crops in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, South Dakota and Oregon.

The crop board said stem rust infection was widespread in the Spring wheat belt and was a "threatening factor" in the Dakotas, Nebraska and western Minnesota, but that visible damage has been slight. Losses, it was said, (Continued on Page Two)

HUGE ALLOTMENT OF SALT PILLS ASSIGNED W. P. A.

W. P. A. workers have a few salt tablets for the torrid weather—just 321,000 of them.

Fourteen dispensers were shipped to the Circleville office, each containing 1,500 tablets. In addition a stock of 300,000 for refueling the dispensers was included. Officials said the tablets were plain salt and each worker was instructed to take a tablet when taking a drink. They are a precaution against sunstroke or other illnesses caused by heat.

The dispensers have been placed on all projects. Workers were undecided Friday how they would be fastened to the water boy on road jobs.

Leland S. Dougan, chairman of the board, later aided his request for an investigation of the board's activities. He said he had been detained by illness of a relative when the other two members prepared their letter.

Few senate veterans believed that any action by the senate leadership could force the bill to a vote unless some entirely unexpected development changed the opposition attitude. Foes of the bill claimed 44 definite votes against it—enough to prevent a vote for many months—and the most optimistic claim of the supporters was 52 votes.

As a result, it appeared likely the senate would scrap over the bill for a month, go into night and probably all-night sessions and finally be forced to postpone action indefinitely.

RUST, CRICKETS ACTIVE

Grasshoppers Cause Damage in Several States

WASHINGTON, July 10—(UP)—Continued hot, dry winds spread the threat of drought across the middlewestern plains today imperiling the best crop prospects in recent years, the department of agriculture reported.

Grasshoppers, Mormon crickets and black stem rust presented an additional menace to crops in many localities, the department said.

Weather the rest of this month, the department's crop reporting board said, will have a "strong bearing" on the outcome of the corn and spring wheat crops.

Drought conditions have not yet become critical, the board said, but "the corn crop is urgently in need of rain in the Great Plains area and has been hurt by dry weather in parts of the South and was planted late in some northern areas."

Grasshoppers Numerous
Grasshoppers, Mormon crickets and stem rust have caused damage in sections of the middlewest, completely destroying crops in some areas. Grasshoppers have been especially numerous in Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

The department said "the worst Mormon cricket outbreak in history" is taxing federal and state resources in the northwest and already has done considerable damage to crops in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, South Dakota and Oregon.

The crop board said stem rust infection was widespread in the Spring wheat belt and was a "threatening factor" in the Dakotas, Nebraska and western Minnesota, but that visible damage has been slight. Losses, it was said, (Continued on Page Two)

Officials said the tablets were plain salt and each worker was instructed to take a tablet when taking a drink. They are a precaution against sunstroke or other illnesses caused by heat.

The dispensers have been placed on all projects. Workers were undecided Friday how they would be fastened to the water boy on road jobs.

JUNKED PLANES GO TO HOSPITAL IN NEW FORMS

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A definite and permanent market exists for smashed and worn-out airplanes, according to August Kern, professional bracermaker of the University of California.

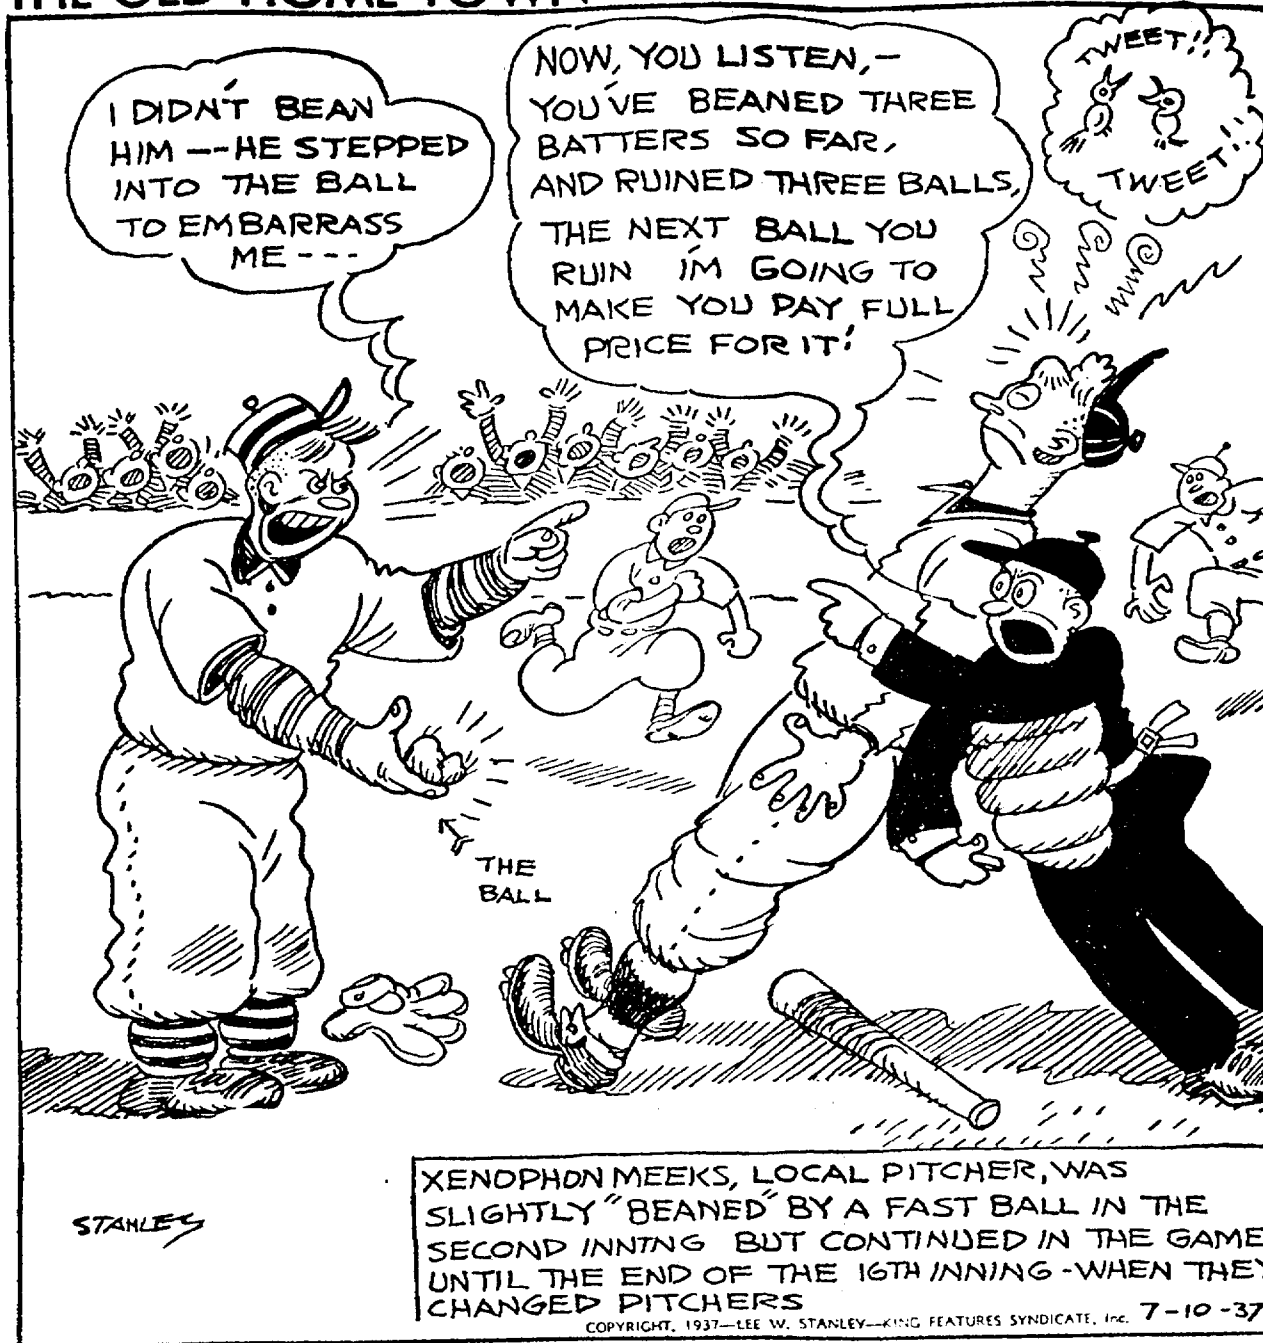

In the same way that there is a market for worn-out automobiles and for the scrap iron of ocean liners and freighters, the material coming from airplanes that have outlived their usefulness is of the highest value in the art of bracermaking, Kern explained.

The fine metal and tubing from discarded airplanes, he has found within the past few years, constitutes the best material available for the manufacture of fracture-setting apparatus, over road pulleys, rods and other appliances necessary to every hospital. Often these vary according to each patient and must be specially made, but the greatest problem has been to find a proper material that was sufficiently light and at the same time strong.

JOHN AND ELAINE

Going on the air in the characterizations that were held up by newspapers recently as a parallel to their own lives, John Barrymore and his wife, Elaine Barry, will take the parts of Ariel and Caliban in Shakespeare's "The Tempest" on Monday, July 12 at 8:30 p. m. This is one of a series of presentations by Barrymore in NBC's "Streamlined Shakespeare" series, which is in listener competition with the Columbia Shakespeare series which has its debut on the night of "The Tempest" dramatization. The NBC technique differs from that of CBS in that the former edits the Bard's works, and presents them in more modern and abbreviated form. The NBC broadcasts last 45 minutes. Particularly noteworthy in this characterization will be the work of the well-publicized hectic lovers whose names became synonymous with Shakespeare's characters when their own implications were before the public's attention. John Barrymore appears in each of the NBC Shakespeare dramas.

might be greater than anticipated at present.

Hot weather in the South was favorable to the immediate growth of cotton after an unusually wet Spring.

Despite growing uncertainty of the effect of the weather on crops, the board forecast a corn crop of 2,572,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,529,327,000 bushels last year, and a wheat crop of 882,287,000 bushels, compared with 626,000,000 last year.

Most surprising item in the board's July 1 estimate was the forecast of a winter wheat crop of 663,641,000 bushels, an increase of 15,000,000 bushels over the June 1 estimate. Spring wheat production was forecast at 218,646,000 bushels.

14.1 Bushels an Acre

The board said the condition of all wheat on July 1 was 71.2 percent of normal on the 47,079,000 acres expected to be harvested, indicating an average of 12.9 bushels per acre. Winter wheat production was forecast at 14.1 bushels per acre and Spring wheat, 10.4 bushels per acre.

Farmers planted 96,146,000 acres of corn, compared with 92,289,000 acres last year. The yield, however, was forecast 26.7 bushels per acre, compared with 16.5 bushels last year. Estimated production was a billion bushels more than the 1,529,327,000 bushels harvested in 1936.

The board forecast oat production at 1,111,229,000 bushels, compared with 789,100,000 bushels last year. Barley production was estimated at 243,540,000 bushels and rye at 50,308,000 bushels, both considerably above last year.

The hay crop will be about 20 percent above last year. Pastures were 79.4 percent of normal, compared with 58.1 percent on July 1 last year.

The peach crop estimated at 57,639,000 bushels, compared with 47,650,000 bushels last year and the apple crop at 194,328,000 bushels, compared with 117,506,000 bushels last year.

Potatoes Gain

Potato production was forecast at 404,229,000 bushels and sweet potatoes at 72,706,000 bushels, both about 20 percent above last year. Tobacco production was forecast at 1,427,174,000 pounds last year.

Production of sugar beets was estimated at 8,952,000 tons, compared with 9,028,000 tons last year. Hops was estimated at 44,720,000 pounds.

have been catapulted from the Colorado's decks for the daily search. Lieut. J. O. Lambrecht, W. B. Short and J. L. ## Putnam Confident

Also there has been no radio signal or message of any kind purporting to come from Miss Earhart in the last 60 hours. None of the early calls ever was checked as authentic, but George Palmer Putnam, husband of Miss Earhart, is confident at least two or three of them originated with her or Noonan and that the plane was on land when they were sent.

A new theory was advanced today by H. Gow, a copra plantation worker in the South Seas, who believes the fliers may be found in the Gilbert islands, which lie directly west of Howland island. Gow said prevailing winds along the route from New Guinea were southeast and that if Miss Earhart was forced down at open sea after overshooting Howland island the current would have carried her near the Gilbert group.

Admiral Orin G. Murfin, commandant of the 14th naval district in charge of the search has plotted the method by which the Lexington's fliers will cover the area. He has blocked off a rough rectangle which runs about 60 miles North and South and is about 40 miles wide. The area encompassed is equivalent to that of the state of Texas, and virtually all of it is open water.

With the planes criss-crossing the section about two days probably will be spent in the great aerial search.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A definite and permanent market exists for smashed and worn-out airplanes, according to August Kern, professional bracermaker of the University of California.

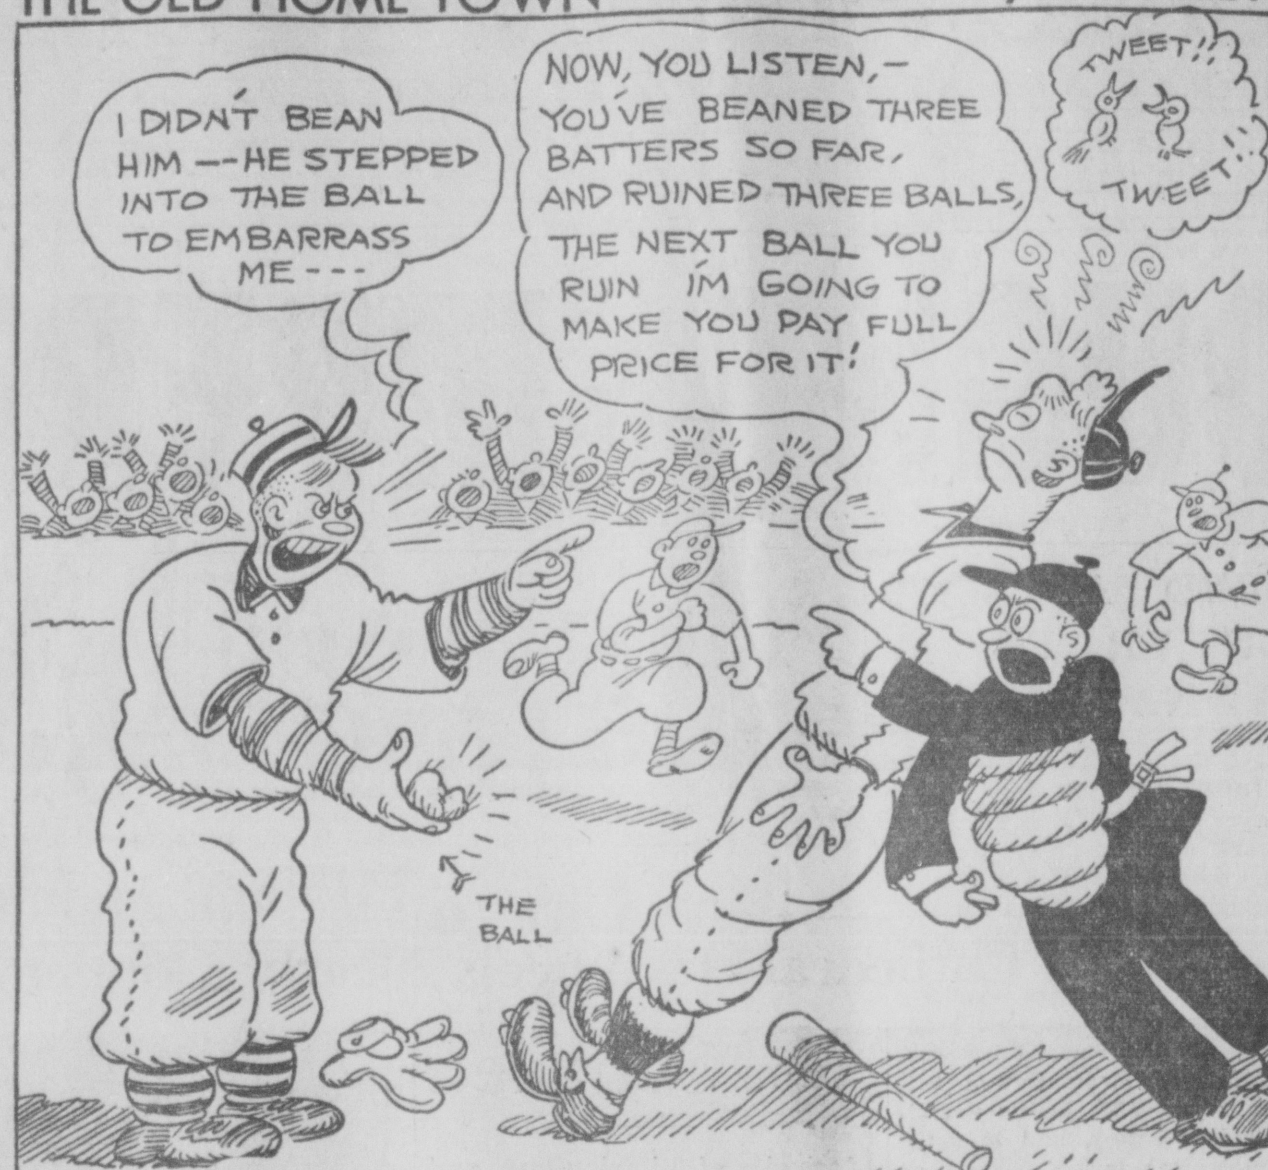

In the same way that there is a market for worn-out automobiles and for the scrap iron of ocean liners and freighters, the material coming from airplanes that have outlived their usefulness is of the highest value in the art of bracermaking, Kern explained.

The fine metal and tubing from discarded airplanes, he has found within the past few years, constitutes the best material available for the manufacture of fracture-setting apparatus, overhead pulleys, rods and other appliances necessary to every hospital. Often these vary according to each patient and must be specially made, but the greatest problem has been to find a proper material that was sufficiently light and at the same time strong.

JOHN AND ELAINE

Going on the air in the characterizations that were held up by newspapers recently as a parallel to their own lives, John Barrymore and his wife, Elaine Barry, will take the parts of Ariel and Caliban in Shakespeare's "The Tempest" on Monday, July 12 at 8:30 p.m. This is one of a series of presentations by Barrymore in NBC's "Streamlined Shakespeare" series, which is in listener competition with the Columbia Shakespeare series which has its debut on the night of "The Tempest" dramatization. The NBC technique differs from that of CBS in that the former edits the Bard's works, and presents them in more modern and abbreviated form. The NBC broadcasts last 45 minutes. Particularly noteworthy in this characterization will be the work of the well-publicized hectic lovers whose names became synonymous with Shakespeare's characters when their own implications were before the public's attention. John Barrymore appears in each of the NBC Shakespeare dramas.

might be greater than anticipated at present.

Hot weather in the South was favorable to the immediate growth of cotton after an unusually wet Spring.

Despite growing uncertainty of the effect of the weather on crops, the board forecast a corn crop of 2,572,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,529,327,000 bushels last year, and a wheat crop of 882,287,000 bushels, compared with 626,000,000 last year.

Most surprising item in the board's July 1 estimate was the forecast of a winter wheat crop of 663,641,000 bushels, an increase of 15,000,000 bushels over the June 1 estimate. Spring wheat production was forecast at 218,646,000 bushels.

14.1 Bushels an Acre

The board said the condition of all wheat on July 1 was 71.2 percent of normal on the 47,079,000 acres expected to be harvested, indicating an average of 12.9 bushels per acre. Winter wheat production was forecast at 14.1 bushels per acre and Spring wheat 10.4 bushels per acre.

Farmers planted 96,146,000 acres of corn, compared with 92,289,000 acres last year. The yield, however, was forecast 26.7 bushels per acre, compared with 16.5 bushels last year. Estimated production was a billion bushels more than the 1,529,327,000 bushels harvested in 1936.

The board forecast oat production at 1,111,229,000 bushels, compared with 789,100,000 bushels last year. Barley production was estimated at 243,540,000 bushels and rye at 50,308,000 bushels, both considerably above last year.

The hay crop will be about 20 percent above last year. Pastures were 79.4 percent of normal, compared with 58.1 percent on July 1 last year.

The peach crop estimated at 57,639,000 bushels, compared with 47,650,000 bushels last year and the apple crop at 194,328,000 bushels, compared with 117,506,000 bushels last year.

have been catapulted from the Colorado's decks for the daily search—Lieuts. J. O. Lambrecht, W. B. Short and J. L. Fox—emphasized the difficulties Miss Earhart must have faced in making a safe landing when they reported that many of the islands and reefs shown on old navy maps could not even be found.

Putnam Confident

Also there has been no radio signal or message of any kind purporting to come from Miss Earhart in the last 60 hours. None of the early calls ever was checked as authentic, but George Palmer Putnam, husband of Miss Earhart, is confident at least two or three of them originated with her or Noonan and that the plane was on land when they were sent.

A new theory was advanced today by H. Gow, a copra plantation worker in the South Seas, who believes the fliers may be found in the Gilbert islands, which lie directly west of Howland island. Gow said prevailing winds along the route from New Guinea were southeast and that if Miss Earhart was forced down at open sea after overshooting Howland island the current would have carried her near the Gilbert group.

Admiral Orin G. Murfin, commandant of the 14th naval district in charge of the search has plotted the method by which the Lexington's fliers will cover the area. He has blocked off a rough rectangle which runs about 60 miles North and South and is about 40 miles wide. The area encompassed is equivalent to that of the state of Texas, and virtually all of it is open water.

With the planes criss-crossing the section about two days probably will be spent in the great aerial search.

Pastor and Musicians To Appear

Dr. J. Roy Weakland and Dillenbeck Family at M. E. Church

A unique and unusual service has been arranged to be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church Thursday evening, July 15, at 7:30 o'clock when Dr. J. Roy Weakland, nationally known pastor-evangelist and author from Cleveland will present the Dillenbeck Melody Makers of Whitney Point, N. Y.

The Dillenbeck Melody Makers' organization is composed of a family of five children whose ages range from four to 13 years. Each child has been studying music since he was old enough to talk, and each is capable of playing several instruments. They have appeared before large congregations in many parts of the United States and are accompanied on all their tours by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillenbeck.

Dr. Weakland became intensely interested in this remarkable family when the members played in some of the meetings conducted by his daughter, Betty Weakland, who although now only 21 years of age has been preaching the gospel for the last 14 years.

Four year old Sylvia Dillenbeck has the distinction of being the youngest orchestra leader in the country. She not only ably wields the baton but possesses an exceptionally strong voice for one of her years.

The orchestra will play on the xylophone, piano accordion, violin, cello, piccolo, cow bells and drums.

The service Thursday evening is designed not only for its entertainment value, but will have a strong religious flavor. Dr. Weakland will deliver a brief lecture on "The Christian Home."

Thursday noon the Melody Makers will entertain the members of the Rotary Club at their regular meeting in the American Hotel.

The group will be in Circleville for Thursday only. It is touring Ohio presenting a program in a different church and city each night. The itinerary for this week includes Dayton, Wilmington, Washington C. H., Chillicothe, Circleville, Lancaster, Nelsonville and Athens.

The service will be entirely interdenominational in character and the public is cordially invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

God Provides a Leader

At Moses' birth his parents had faith to believe that God would use his child. So they hid him in a basket in the bulrushes along the Nile river to prevent his slaying.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Exodus 2:1-3:12

Here Pharaoh's daughter found him and Miriam cleverly suggested getting a Hebrew nurse and brought Moses' own mother. Her influence on her child kept him true to his mother's people.

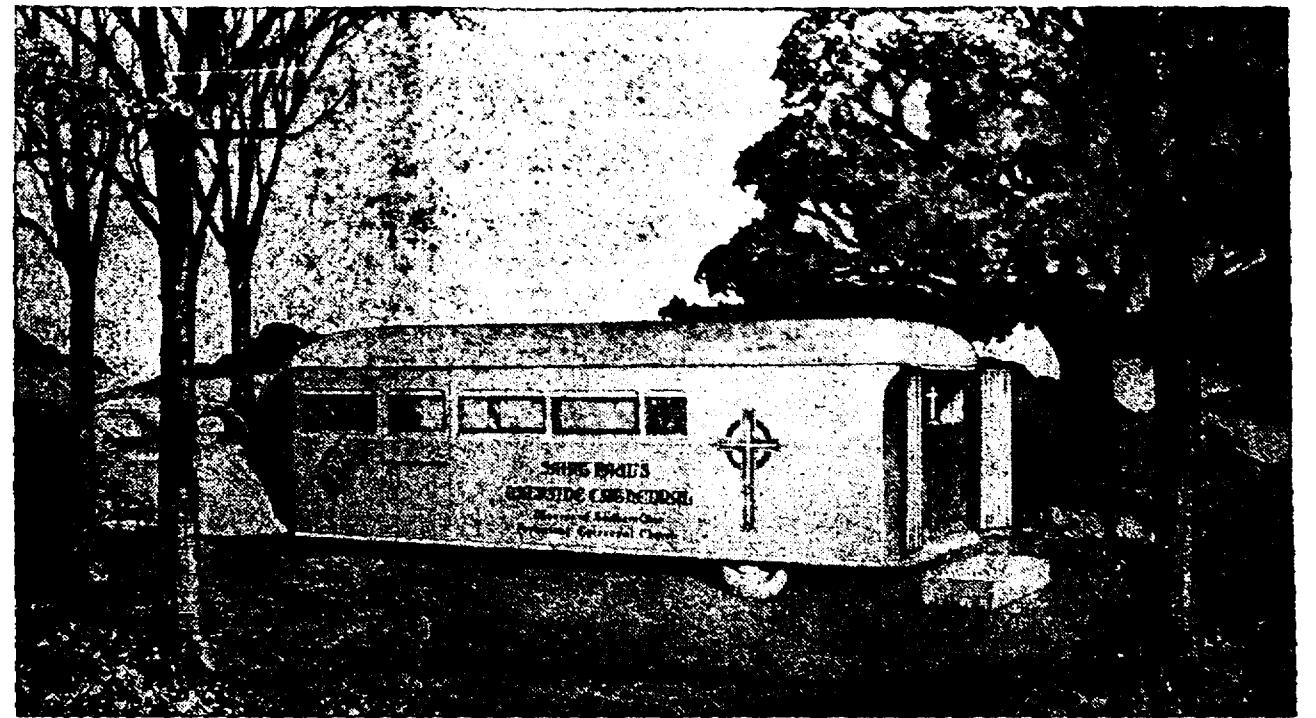

At manhood Moses' sympathies were with the Hebrews, "his brethren". Finding an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, Moses slew him and fled to Midian where he was a shepherd for forty years.

From the burning brush in the wilderness God called Moses to become shepherd to his people Israel to deliver them from Egypt. (GOLDEN TEXT—Ex. 3:10.)

Episcopal Cathedral-On-Wheels Nearly Complete

The first Cathedral of its kind—a motorized Cathedral that will go to the people without waiting for them to come to it—is nearing completion in Cincinnati.

Bishop Henry Wise Hobson, head of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, returned July 7th with the shell of the Cathedral.

Furnishings will be installed in the Cathedral in Cincinnati. They will include the altar, Bishop's chair, cabinets, and seats. Indications are the Bishop will have the Cathedral ready for action the latter part of July, or early in August.

St. Paul's Wayside Cathedral takes the place of an old Cathedral building in Cincinnati which became unserviceable because of changed conditions and disintegration of the building fabric.

Bishop Hobson has received the endorsement of his Diocese in this new venture, which he recommended April 6th at the annual Diocesan Convention.

A more energetic Christian program is possible through St. Paul's Wayside Cathedral, the Bishop emphasized. Through it, he would be able to be in closer contact with the various parishes of the Diocese, taking the Cathedral and members of the diocesan staff to them for visits of several days. He also would be able to develop a strong ministry to isolated areas where there are no Churches.

The various diocesan departments, such as the Departments of Religious Education, Missions, Field, Publicity, and Evangelism, will prepare exhibits, or educational movies, to be carried in the Cathedral throughout the Diocese for the information of the Church members as to the Church's work, Bishop Hobson said.

Pastor and Musicians To Appear

Dr. J. Roy Weakland and Dillenbeck Family at M. E. Church

A unique and unusual service has been arranged to be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church Thursday evening, July 15, at 7:30 o'clock when Dr. J. Roy Weakland, nationally known pastor-evangelist and author from Cleveland will present the Dillenbeck Melody Makers of Whitney Point, N. Y.

The Dillenbeck Melody Makers' organization is composed of a family of five children whose ages range from four to 13 years. Each child has been studying music since he was old enough to talk, and each is capable of playing several instruments. They have appeared before large congregations in many parts of the United States and are accompanied on all their tours by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillenbeck.

Dr. Weakland became intensely interested in this remarkable family when the members played in some of the meetings conducted by his daughter, Betty Weakland, who although now only 21 years of age has been preaching the gospel for the last 14 years.

Four year old Sylvia Dillenbeck has the distinction of being the youngest orchestra leader in the country. She not only ably wields the baton but possesses an exceptionally strong voice for one of her years.

The orchestra will play on the xylophone, piano accordion, violin, cello, piccolo, cow bells and drums.

The service Thursday evening is designed not only for its entertainment value, but will have a strong religious flavor. Dr. Weakland will deliver a brief lecture on "The Christian Home."

Thursday noon the Melody Makers will entertain the members of the Rotary Club at their regular meeting in the American Hotel.

The group will be in Circleville for Thursday only. It is touring Ohio presenting a program in a different church and city each night. The itinerary for this week includes Dayton, Wilmington, Washington C. H., Chillicothe, Circleville, Lancaster, Nelsonville and Athens.

The service will be entirely interdenominational in character and the public is cordially invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

God Provides a Leader

At Moses' birth his parents had faith to believe that God would use their child. So they hid him in a basket in the bulrushes along the Nile river to prevent his slaying.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Exodus 2:1-3:12

Here Pharaoh's daughter found him and Miriam cleverly suggested getting a Hebrew nurse and brought Moses' own mother. Her influence on her child kept him true to his mother's people.

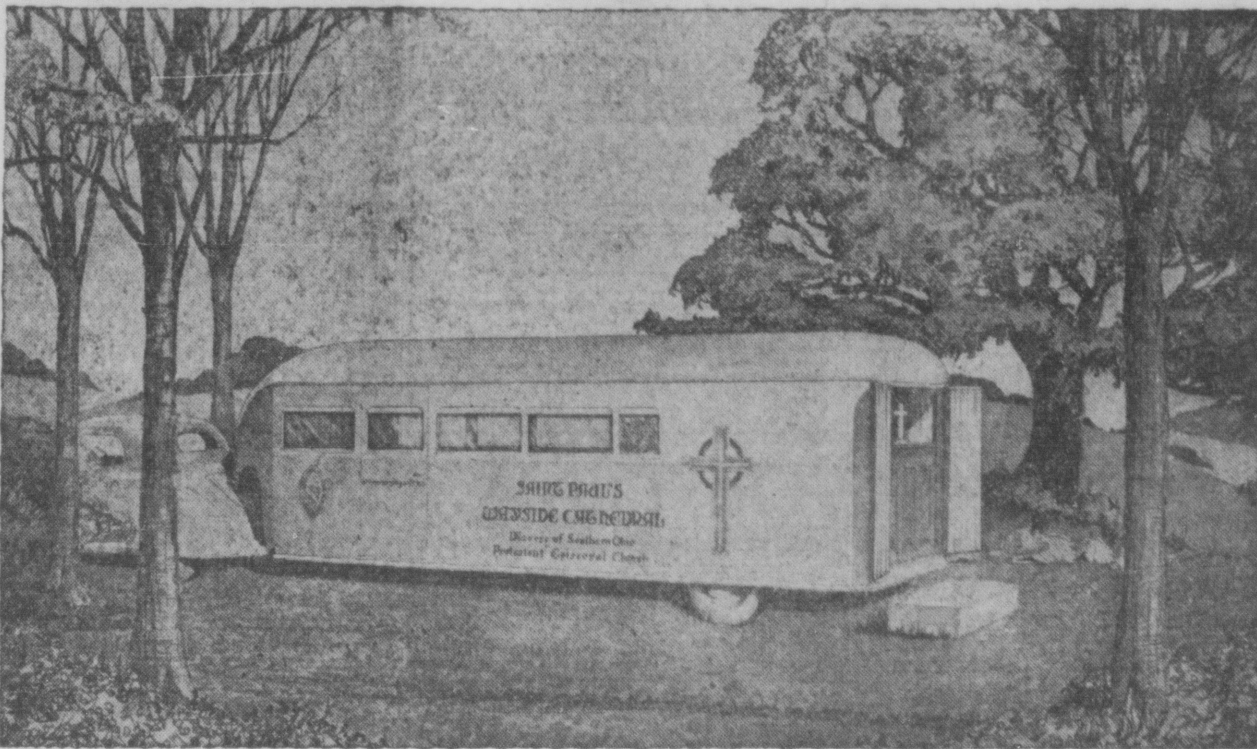

At manhood Moses' sympathies were with the Hebrews, "his brethren". Finding an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, Moses slew him and fled to Midian where he was a shepherd for forty years.

From the burning brush in the wilderness God called Moses to become shepherd to his people Israel to deliver them from Egypt. (GOLDEN TEXT—Ex. 3:10.)

Episcopal Cathedral-On-Wheels Nearly Complete

The first Cathedral of its kind—a motorized Cathedral that will go to the people without waiting for them to come to it—is nearing completion in Cincinnati.

Bishop Henry Wise Hobson, head of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, returned July 7th with the shell of the Cathedral.

Furnishings will be installed in the Cathedral in Cincinnati. They will include the altar, Bishop's chair, cabinets, and seats.

Indications are the Bishop will have the Cathedral ready for action the latter part of July, or early in August.

St. Paul's Wayside Cathedral takes the place of an old Cathedral building in Cincinnati which became unserviceable because of changed conditions and disintegration of the building fabric.

Bishop Hobson has received the endorsement of his Diocese in this new venture, which he recommended April 6th at the annual Diocesan Convention.

A more energetic Christian program is possible through St. Paul's Wayside Cathedral, the Bishop emphasized. Through it, he would be able to be in closer contact with the various parishes of the Diocese, taking the Cathedral and members of the diocesan staff to them for visits of several days. He also would be able to develop a strong ministry to isolated areas where there are no Churches.

The various diocesan departments, such as the Departments of Religious Education, Missions, Field, Publicity, and Evangelism, will prepare exhibits, or educational movies, to be carried in the Cathedral throughout the Diocese for the information of the Church members as to the Church's work, Bishop Hobson said.

Otterbein Guild Holds Reunion Friday Evening

Many Friends, Former Members Attend Meeting

Many former Guild members, former patronesses and members of the Women's Missionary society attended the interesting reunion of the Otterbein Guild, Friday evening, in the community house, of the United Brethren church.

This was the first reunion held by the Guild, which was organized about 30 years ago. It is the second to be organized in the history of the United Brethren church. The societies are now found in all U. B. churches.

A covered dish dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, and was followed by a few remarks by Mary Elizabeth Groce, who served as toast-mistress. Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, president of the guild, greeted the guests, and responses were voiced by Mrs. B. C. Peters, of Columbus, and Miss Viola Woolver, of Guilford Road, former patronesses of the society. Mrs. James W. Trimmer, president of the Missionary society, and Mrs. Margaret Smith, a member of the first Otterbein Guild.

The meeting was then turned over to the program leader, Dorothy Jenkins. The first number, a piano prelude, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," was played by Eleanor Vandervort. Lucille Kirkwood sang, "Follow Me." The 23rd Psalm was repeated in unison. The hymn, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," was sung by the group. Miss Catherine Turner read the scripture lesson, and gave a brief review. Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick offered prayer. The leader's response was given by Dorothy Jenkins. Mary Elizabeth Groce told of "A Faithful Follower of the Good Shepherd in Africa." The program continued with an accordion solo by Mary Ruth Noggle, a demonstration of some surprising conditions in the lives of Africans and of missionaries in Africa, given by Betty May. Norma Jean Betts, Harriet McGath, Marcellite Kerr, Ruth Gard and Evelyn Pearce; duet, "My Task," by Eleanor Vandervort and the Rev. B. C. Peters, of Columbus; "Some African Youth, Followers of the Good Shepherd," by Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick; closing prayer, by the Rev. Mr. Peters.

Greetings were read from three former patronesses who were unable to attend, namely Mrs. Anna Cox, of Newark, Mrs. J. E. Millions and Miss Nell McCollister, of Circleville.

The guest list included the Rev. and Mrs. Peters of Columbus, Mrs. James Trimmer, Mrs. A. H. Morris, Miss Daisy Woolver, Mrs. Viola Woolver, Miss Gladys Noggle, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Harry Gard, Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick, missionary guests; Mrs. Don Bowers, Mrs. Charles Hurtt, Mrs. M. R. ## WELL-DRESSED WOMAN WEARS STRIPED FROCK

By Central Press

YOU SEE a lot of plain blacks and navy blues, and many gaily printed fabrics with designs of everything from flowers to funny little figures of people and animals.

So if you want to look distinctive this very smart season, why don't you choose a stripe for your next frock. Here we have pretty Ann Sheridan, motion picture player, wearing a brown linen dress brightly striped in white lines for that spectator sports dress that will take her anywhere an informal frock may be worn.

A dress such as this is cool and comfortable when you are watching the horse races, the tennis match, the ball game or following the golfing stars around the course.

Plaids Are Good

If you don't like your stripes straight up and down or across, many of the best looking spectator sports dresses are in plaids in such materials as chiffon, or crepe or even a lightweight plaid wool is very popular this year.

For the beach the new halteres, to be worn with your shorts or your slacks, are very intriguing. They may be had in stripes, too, in printed cotton, linen or pique, and they are very inexpensive.

A washable dress that is very pretty and practical for summer is in a spun rayon fabric with a raised pattern that looks like needle-point.

Drop-stitch jersey is another popular fabric for summer, and it comes in black with white trimmings or in white. Then there are the so-called "better" summer fabrics—angelskin crepes, the more expensive cotton prints and printed seersuckers, etc., all to give you that well-dressed look, whether you stay at home or travel hither and yon.

WELL-DRESSED WOMAN WEARS STRIPED FROCK

By Central Press

YOU SEE a lot of plain blacks and navy blues, and many gaily printed fabrics with designs of everything from flowers to funny little figures of people and animals.

So if you want to look distinctive this very smart season, why don't you choose a stripe for your next frock. Here we have pretty Ann Sheridan, motion picture player, wearing a brown linen dress brightly striped in white lines for that spectator sports dress that will take her anywhere an informal frock may be worn.

A dress such as this is cool and comfortable when you are watching the horse races, the tennis match, the ball game or following the golfing stars around the course.

Plaids Are Good

If you don't like your stripes straight up and down or across, many of the best looking spectator sports dresses are in plaids in such materials as chiffon, or crepe or even a lightweight plaid wool is very popular this year.

For the beach the new halters, to be worn with your shorts or your slacks, are very intriguing. They may be had in stripes, too, in printed cotton, linen or pique, and they are very inexpensive.

A washable dress that is very pretty and practical for summer is in a spun rayon fabric with a raised pattern that looks like needle-point.

Drop-stitch jersey is another popular fabric for summer, and it comes in black with white trimmings or in white. Then there are the so-called "better" summer fabrics—angelskin crepes, the more expensive cotton prints and printed seersuckers, etc., all to give their meeting at Washington school.

A short business session was conducted the first hour by Kenneth Wertman, master.

The evening's program was arranged under the direction of Mrs. M. M. Bowman, lecturer, and was opened with group singing of "America," and "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean." "History of our American Flag," was read by Mrs. Marvin Steele. Miss Alma Glick offered a reading, "The Liberty Bell." Miss Hulda Leist, continued the program with a paper, "Our American Patriots"; Dorothy Glick, piano solo, "Patriotic Medley"; reading, "July in American History," by Miss Ethyl May.

Martha Bolender and George Steele presented a pantomime, "Our First Flag," and group singing of "America the Beautiful," brought the program to a close.

Mrs. Athey Hostess
Mrs. Larry Athey, of E. Mound street, entertained at an afternoon of bridge, Friday, complimenting Mrs. Lee Yunker, of Madison, Ind., who is the guest of Mrs. George Critch, her sister.

The affair was held at the summer cottage of Mrs. Athey's father, Mr. J. D. Hummel, in Pickaway township.

Four tables of players enjoyed a delightful afternoon of contract bridge. When scores were taken at the conclusion of the games prizes were won by Mrs. Joseph Noecker and Mrs. Ray Davis. Mrs. Athey served refreshments during a social hour.

Highway Club
The Highway Social Get-Together Club will meet Tuesday, July 13, at Gold Cliff Park. A picnic supper is planned for 7 o'clock. All members and their families are invited to attend.

Y. T. C.
The Youth's Temperance Council will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Ruth Esther Gard, 236 E. Franklin street. This will be an open meeting, and all boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 20 are invited to attend.

Merry-Makers Club Picnic
About 16 members of the Merry-Makers club of the Order of the Eastern Star motored to Springfield, Friday, to enjoy a picnic at the Masonic home. After the covered dish dinner served at noon, the guests were taken for a tour of the buildings during the afternoon.

Mrs. Beaty Hostess
Mrs. Roy N. Beaty, of W. Mound street, was hostess to the members of her auction bridge club Friday evening at her home. Two guests, Mrs. Marion Sensenbrenner and Mrs. Edwin Bach, were present for the evening's play.

When scores were added trophies were awarded Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Beaty, and Mrs. Melvin Mettler, of the club members and Mrs. Bach of the guests. Mrs. Beaty served a dessert course.

Mrs. Walter Heise will entertain the club in two weeks.

There are approximately 615,000 acres of orange and grapefruit-bearing trees in the United States, and 127,000 acres of trees not yet of bearing age.

Ann Sheridan

Average of 16 Scores Per Game is Counted

NEW YORK, July 10—(UP)—From Yankee stadium, New York, to Sportsman's park, St. Louis, major league ball parks echoed today a crashing crescendo of baseball. It's a wonder some of the pitchers who strode to the mound yesterday are still alive today.

In the greatest offensive day of the 1937 season, 128 runs and 203 hits were made in eight games. That's an average of 16 runs and 25½ hits per game.

Some of the high spots of yesterday's batting carnival were:

1) The Yanks were high in runs scored with 16 and Brooklyn tops in hits with 20.

2) Joe Di Maggio, Yanks' frozen-faced San Francisco Italian, belted out two home runs, a triple, double and single and drove in seven runs in a "5 for 5" day.

Waners Club Apple

3) The Waner boys, Paul and Lloyd, of Pittsburgh each had perfect days against the Cubs. Paul got "4 for 4" and Lloyd "3 for 3" to score four runs and to drive in three.

4) Athletics, with a pitcher in left field, one in center and a third pinch-hitting, made 19 hits but lost a wild and woolly 12-inning battle to the Red Sox, 12-11.

5) There were 29 errors—18 in the National and 11 in the American—an average of over three per game, with the usually steady New York Giants leading the day with five blunders.

6) The attacks of the Giants, Cubs, Phillies and Washington completely stalled as those clubs failed to join in the batting carnage. The Phils couldn't even score. The Cubs made only one run, the Giants and Washington two each.

After all this slugging and wholesale clouting the pennant races remained status quo with the Cubs holding their 2-game advantage over the Giants and the Yanks retaining their 5½ game margin over Detroit.

A fist fight between Jake Powell, ex-Senator now with the Yanks, and Joe Kuhel, Washington first baseman, enlivened New York's 16-2 triumph over the Nationals. Powell jarred Kuhel at first base, and the Washington player slugged Powell. It took half a dozen players and umpires to separate them and then they were put out of the game. Monte Pearson went the route to score his sixth straight victory.

COLUMBUS WINS 3 TO 1 CONTEST TO GAIN IN LOOP

Bill McGee Too Tough For Indianapolis in Game Under Lights

JORDAN'S HIT DECIDING

Series With Colonels Opens This Afternoon

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10—Columbus Red Birds were to play back home today after winning the fourth of a five-game series under the lights last night in the Indian enclosure.

The Indians caught big Bill McGee again when he was in rare form and they suffered a 1 to 3 defeat. The victory placed the Birds only one and one-half games out of first place in the Association.

The Birds won the game in their half of the eighth frame when King and Slaughter singled to right field. Rizzo moved them along with a sacrifice. Stein flied to Taylor, scoring King with the tying run at 1-all. Seibert was walked intentionally, but Jimmy Jordan crashed a double to score two runners. Phillips pitched for the losers.

The game was ended at the end of the eighth through an agreement that declared no inning should start after 11:10 p.m., Columbus time.

The Red Birds meet Louisville this afternoon and in a double bill on Sunday.

INDIANS AT .500 AFTER 8-10 LOSS TO TIGER TEAM

DETROIT, July 10—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians were back at the .500 mark today and their chances of climbing out of the second division had received another setback.

Cleveland dropped a 10 to 8 decision to the Detroit Tigers here yesterday. The loss put the Indians four full games to the rear of the fourth place Boston Red Sox.

Willis Hudlin, the veteran right-hander who has made a brilliant comeback this season, lacked his usual stuff yesterday and was pounded out of the box after he had retired two men in the second inning.

MEDWICK, GEHRIG RETAIN MARGINS IN TWO LEAGUES

NEW YORK, July 10—(UP)—Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals' belting outfielder, and Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees' clouting first baseman, continued to hold the major league batting leads despite the fact that both lost ground to their nearest rivals, according to the averages released today and including games of Thursday, July 8.

Medwick slumped one point to .404 but dropped seven points to Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cubs' catcher, who improved his average from .380 to .386. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, added eight points to his mark to trail Hartnett by one point with .355.

Gehrig dropped from .376 to .372 to lead Charley Gehring, Detroit second baseman, by 12 points. Gehring pulled up from fourth place with .354 to second with .360. Gerald Walker, Detroit outfielder who was idle with injuries, dropped to third place with .355.

Clay Bryant, Chicago Cubs, continued to hold the National league pitching lead with six victories and one defeat. Roxie Lawson, Detroit, held the lead among American league hurlers with 10 victories and two defeats.

Cincinnati staked the husky southpaw to a 5 to 3 lead after seven innings of play. In the eighth, however, Grissom was pounded from the box as the Cardinals pushed across five runs off his delivery and that of reliever Gene Schott.

Ten members of the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association, meeting in the Elks home, Friday night, voted to sell the cabin along the old canal, owned by the organization. The property will be appraised and offered for sale in the near future.

Harry Bartholomew, secretary, reported 445 fishing licenses sold by organization members during the last three months.

Ollie Neymeir, Prospect, and L. E. Hutchinson, Cincinnati, have been selected as judges for the fall field trials of the Pickaway County Bird Dog club to be held Nov. 5, 6 and 7, at Yellowbud.

About This And That In Many Sports

By BILL BRAUCHER

1 Min. 56 Secs.

Tommy Farr may be a bit of quite all right, as his British backers proclaim, but if that's true, he is the first British heavyweight in 50 years to be worth a second look. . . . I've got my doubts, don't you know. . . . if he gets past the first round in that September bout with Joe Louis, he'll score a moral victory, the way I've got the bighter sized up. . . . my guess is a knockout in one minute and 56 seconds of the first round. . . . These sound like bitter, scathing words. . . . yes. . . . but go back over the story of a the British heavyweights since the days of Charley Mitchell, and you can't come up with any different kind of an answer. . . . they've all been terrible. . . . Mitchell retired in 1894, and no heavyweight was hailed by the British fans until 1906 when Gunner Moir, a big Londoner, won the Empire title by knocking out one Jack Palmer. . . . Moir was great stuff for a year or so, at least until he met Tommy Burns and was knocked for a row. . . . a couple of years after Burns beat Moir, a new threat arose in the person of Ian (Iron) Hague. . . . the name was misleading. . . . Mister Hague's chin turned out to be not so much iron as glass. . . . Hague won high fame by knocking Moir out, but he should have quit right there. . . . instead, he was matched with a young Negro heavyweight from the United States. . . . the name, Sam Langford. . . . four rounds, my friends, and they picked up the Iron Hague in small pieces.

Wells Came Next

Twenty-six years ago Bombardier Billy Wells loomed large on the British cauliflower landscape. . . . he won the title by knocking out Iron Hague. . . . Wells looked the part of another Mitchell. . . . at first. . . . he was a brilliant boxer and powerful puncher. . . . the noise he made in England reached America. . . . so they brought him over and matched him with Al Palmer, winner of a white hope tournament in New York. . . . it went three rounds and ended with the Bombardier horizontal in the resin. . . . poor dear Bombardier!

Beckett Recalled

The Bombardier was good enough to keep the British title, however, though knocked out by Gunboat Smith and Georges Carpentier, until 1919. . . . then came the leading horizontal heavy-weight of all time, Joe Beckett, a legend in the sport of fisticuffs. . . . Beckett knocked out old Bombardier (45 years old) in five rounds. . . . the illusion of Beckett persisted until Frank Moran came along with his Mary Ann punch and laid Joe among the posies. . . . after that Georges Carpentier, and others too numerous to mention took turns knocking Joe for a goal. . . . Beckett, his shoulders sore from bouncing off the resin, retired in 1923. . . . after Beckett retired, a chap named Frank Goddard was declared champion.

Others in Row

We all know about Phil Scott, so it isn't necessary to go into his case again. . . . after Scott came a chap named Jack Peterson, a towering Welshman. . . . Peterson got along all right until a German named Walter Neusel, washed up in the United States, stopped in England two years ago on his way home. . . . to pick up some change, he agreed to a bout with Peterson. . . . and knocked him out. . . . the British were unconvinced and demanded a return match. . . . Old Man Neusel knocked him out again. . . . and that was the end of that lad.

Lost to Loughran

Now it's Farr. . . . it's a bit hard to get an accurate line on him, as his defeat of Max Baer doesn't mean a great deal. . . . neither does his victory over Neusel, who never was regarded as more than a fifth rate heavy over here. . . . I understand Tommy Loughran beat Farr last year in London, though Farr got the decision in ten rounds. . . . if the venerable Loughran could stand the fellow off, you can figure about how much chance Farr has with Louis!

YESTERDAY'S HERO—Jim Turner, Bees "veteran" rookie, who pitched his third straight victory, and allowed only five hits as he scored the only shutout on a day when most pitchers' lives were in danger.

Orang Imbibes to End

MELBOURNE (UP)—Jimmy, the favorite orang-utang of the Melbourne Zoo and who was known to thousands of visitors, is dead as a result of refusal to take any medicine other than whisky and soda or brandy and soda. Jimmy caught cold and developed laryngitis but steadfastly refused all medication except his favorite drinks.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Back to the laugh division of the movies after a successful fling at serious historical drama, Claudette Colbert comes to the screen of the Cliftona Theatre on Sunday in "I Met Him in Paris," a bright transatlantic comedy romance which features Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young.

Miss Colbert was last seen here in the heavy dramatic lead role of "Maid of Salem," the plot of which was suggested by the hysterical witchcraft scare of seventeenth-century New England.

In "I Met Him in Paris" Claudette returns to present-day roles and portrays an American working girl on a grand vacation in the French capital. Finding that romance knows no geographical limits, Claudette falls in love with two men, both very nice but widely different in personality.

AT THE GRAND

Errol Flynn, star of the Cosmopolitan production, "Green Light," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Sunday, as a First National release, has started a collection of rare swords.

The assortment now totals several score blades, several of them dating back many centuries.

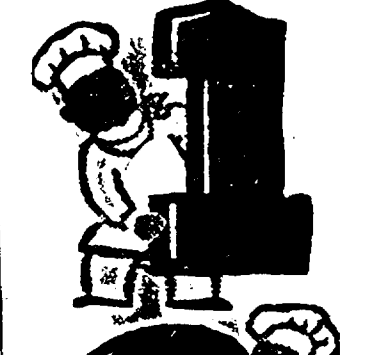

Favorites among the collection, however, are the swords he used in his first and second starring pictures for Warner Bros., "Captain Blood" and "Charge of the Light Brigade." The weapons form a sort of permanent exhibit in the Flynn library.

With Flynn in this romantic drama are, among others, Anita Louise, Margaret Lindsay, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Walter Abel and Henry O'Neill. Frank Borzage directed the picture.

Waners Club Apple

3) The Waner boys, Paul and Lloyd, of Pittsburgh each had perfect days against the Cubs. Paul got "4 for 4" and Lloyd "3 for 3" to score four runs and to drive in three.

4) Athletics, with a pitcher in left field, one in center and a third pinch-hitting, made 19 hits but lost a wild and woolly 12-inning battle to the Red Sox, 12-11.

5) There were 29 errors—18 in the National and 11 in the American—an average of over three per game, with the usually steady New York Giants leading the day with five blunders.

6) The attacks of the Giants, Cubs, Phillies and Washington completely stalled as those clubs failed to join in the batting carnage. The Phils couldn't even score. The Cubs made only one run, the Giants and Washington two each.

After all this slugging and wholesale clouting the pennant races remained status quo with the Cubs holding their 2-game advantage over the Giants and the Yanks retaining their 5 1/2 game margin over Detroit.

A fist fight between Jake Powell, ex-Senator now with the Yanks, and Joe Kuhel, Washington first baseman, enlivened New York's 16-2 triumph over the Nationals. Powell jarred Kuhel at first base, and the Washington player slugged Powell. It took half a dozen players and umpires to separate them and then they were put out of the game. Monte Pearson went the route to score his sixth straight victory.

Bill McGee Too Tough For Indianapolis in Game Under Lights

JORDAN'S HIT DECIDING

Series With Colonels Opens This Afternoon

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10—Columbus Red Birds were to play back home today after winning the fourth of a five-game series under the lights last night in the Indian enclosure.

The Indians caught big Bill McGee again when he was in rare form and they suffered a 1 to 3 defeat. The victory placed the Birds only one and one-half games out of first place in the Association.

The Birds won the game in their half of the eighth frame when King and Slaughter singled to right field. Rizzo moved them along with a sacrifice. Stein flied to Taylor, scoring King with the tying run at 1-all. Seibert was walked intentionally, but Jimmy Jordan crashed a double to score two runners. Phillips pitched for the losers.

The game was ended at the end of the eighth through an agreement that declared no inning should start after 11:10 p. m., Columbus time.

The Red Birds meet Louisville this afternoon and in a double bill on Sunday.

INDIANS AT .500 AFTER 8-10 LOSS TO TIGER TEAM

DETROIT, July 10—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians were back at the .500 mark today and their chances of climbing out of the second division had received another setback.

Cleveland dropped a 10 to 8 decision to the Detroit Tigers here yesterday. The loss put the Indians four full games to the rear of the fourth place Boston Red Sox.

Willis Hudlin, the veteran right-hander who has made a brilliant comeback this season, lacked his usual stuff yesterday and was pounded out of the box after he had retired two men in the second inning.

About This And That In Many Sports

By BILL BRAUCHER

1 Min. 56 Secs.

Tommy Farr may be a bit of quite all right, as his British backers proclaim, but if that's true, he is the first British heavyweight in 50 years to be worth a second look . . . and I've got my doubts, don't you know . . . if he gets past the first round in that September bout with Joe Louis, he'll score a moral victory, the way I've got the blighter sized up . . . my guess is a knockout in one minute and 56 seconds of the first round . . . These sound like bitter, scathing words . . . yes . . . but go back over the story of all the British heavyweights since the days of Charley Mitchell, and you can't come up with any different kind of an answer . . . they've all been terrible . . . Mitchell retired in 1894, and no heavyweight was hailed by the British fans until 1906 when Gunner Moir, a big Londoner, won the Empire title by knocking out one Jack Palmer . . . Moir was great stuff for a year or so, at least until he met Tommy Burns and was knocked for a row . . . a couple of years after Burns beat Moir, a new threat arose in the person of Ian (Iron) Hague . . . the name was misleading . . . Mister Hague's chin turned out to be not so much iron as glass . . . Hague won high fame by knocking Moir out, but he should have quit right there . . . instead, he was matched with a young Negro heavyweight from the United States . . . the name, Sam Langford . . . four rounds, my friends, and they picked up the Iron Hague in small pieces.

Wells Came Next

Twenty-six years ago Bombardier Billy Wells loomed large on the British cauliflower landscape . . . he won the title by knocking out Iron Hague . . . Wells looked the part of another Mitchell . . . at first . . . he was a brilliant boxer and powerful puncher . . . the noise he made in England reached America . . . so they brought him over and matched him with Al Palzer, winner of a white hope tournament in New York . . . it went three rounds and ended with the Bombardier horizontal in the resin . . . poor dear Bombardier!

Beckett Recalled

The Bombardier was good enough to keep the British title, however, though knocked out by Gunboat Smith and Georges Carpentier, until 1919 . . . then came the leading horizontal heavyweight of all time, Joe Beckett, a legend in the sport of fistfights . . . Beckett knocked out old Bombardier (45 years old) in five rounds . . . the illusion of Beckett persisted until Frank Moran came along with his Mary Ann punch and laid Joe among the posies . . . after that Georges Carpentier, and others too numerous to mention took turns knocking Joe for a goal . . . Beckett, his shoulders sore from bouncing off the resin, retired in 1923 . . . after Beckett retired, a chap named Frank Goddard was declared champion.

Others in Row

We all know about Phil Scott, so it isn't necessary to go into his case again . . . after Scott came a chap named Jack Peterson, a towering Welshman . . . Peterson got along all right until a German named Walter Neusel, washed up in the United States, stopped in England two years ago on his way home . . . to pick up some change, he agreed to a bout with Peterson . . . and knocked him out . . . the British were unconvinced and demanded a return match . . . Old Man Neusel knocked him out again . . . and that was the end of that lad.

Lost to Loughran

Now it's his . . . it's a bit hard to get an accurate line on him, as his defeat of Max Baer doesn't mean a great deal . . . neither does his victory over Neusel, who never was regarded as more than a fifth rate heavy over here . . . I understand Tommy Loughran beat Farr last year in London, though Farr got the decision in ten rounds . . . if the venerable Loughran could stand the fello' off, you can figure about how much chance Farr has with Louis!

YESTERDAY'S HERO—Jim Turner, Bees "veteran" rookie, who pitched his third straight victory, and allowed only five hits as he scored the only shutout on a day when most pitchers' lives were in danger.

Orang Imbibes to End

MELBOURNE (UP)—Jimmy, the favorite orang-utang of the Melbourne Zoo and who was known to thousands of visitors, is dead as a result of refusal to take any medicine other than whisky and soda or brandy and soda. Jimmy caught cold and developed laryngitis but steadfastly refused all medication except his favorite drinks.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Back to the laugh division of the movies after a successful fling at serious historical drama, Claudette Colbert comes to the screen of the Cliftona Theatre on Sunday in "I Met Him in Paris," a bright transatlantic comedy romance which features Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young.

Miss Colbert was last seen here in the heavy dramatic lead role of "Maid of Salem," the plot of which was suggested by the hysterical witchcraft scare of seventeenth-century New England.

In "I Met Him in Paris" Claudette returns to present-day roles and portrays an American working girl on a grand vacation in the French capital. Finding that romance knows no geographical limits, Claudette falls in love with two men, both very nice but widely different in personality.

AT THE GRAND

Errol Flynn, star of the Cosmopolitan production, "Green Light," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Sunday, as a First National release, has started a collection of rare swords.

The assortment now totals several score blades, several of them dating back many centuries.

Favorites among the collection, however, are the swords he used in his first and second starring pictures for Warner Bros., "Captain Blood" and "Charge of the Light Brigade." The weapons form a sort of permanent exhibit in the Flynn library.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

UPSET THE CARD READING CLEVER false carding really consists of upsetting the opponents' card reading. For instance, if the declarer overtakes a J with an Ace, an opponent who holds a K will immediately place the Q with his partner. Especially in no trump contracts, this is likely to cause him to repeat the lead of that suit rather than make a switch which can be fatal to the contract.

West opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Diamond. North overcalled with 1-Spade. East and South passed. West doubled. East bid 2-Hearts. West 2-No Trumps. East 3-Diamonds and West 3-No Trumps.

Against this contract, North led the spade 5, which South covered with the J. West realized at once that he had to develop diamonds in order to make game and that a switch to hearts, if the diamond

K was lost, would endanger his contract. Instead, therefore, of winning the first spade lead with the Q, he put on the Ace. There was really no sacrifice involved, as he could still win another spade trick, but the important thing was to implant in North's mind that the spade Q was held by South and that one more round would set up the suit.

After winning with the spade A, declarer led to the club K and finessed the diamond Q to North's K. Feeling confident that his partner had the spade Q, North continued that suit and the declarer was home.

West led the Spade J against South's contract of 6-Diamonds. In which hand should the first trick be won?

NEW WINDOWS MAY BE TILTED AT ANY ANGLE

A new type of window which can be tilted is being installed in many new homes. These windows are easy to clean, may be opened during a storm without rain coming in the room, and prevent draughts. The panes of glass in a tiltable window fit into the frames exactly as they fit in stationary ones. The upper edge of the sash can be pulled, however, and the pane pivots, in the same manner that ventilators on office windows work. ## MICHIGAN REPORTS LACK OF HOUSES

DETROIT, Mich.—A state-wide housing shortage, particularly for accommodations in the medium- and lower-priced brackets, is causing business and civic leaders to study the provisions of the National Housing Act for possible solution of the situation. The State Director for the Federal Housing Administration in Michigan reports that his office is constantly consulted by representatives from cities in every section of the state. Industrial communities appear to be affected most seriously.

New Loan Is Checked With Care

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 10—Need for the exercise of caution in the further subdivision of land until the present stock of lots in existing subdivisions is utilized was emphasized today by Frederick M. Babcock, Director of the Federal Housing Administration's Underwriting Division. Estimates compiled recently by the administration indicate that at the present rate of utilization the stock of residential building lots created during the last building boom will be sufficient to meet the needs of normal city growth in many cities during the next two or three decades. "We are proceeding cautiously with the acceptance of loans in new neighborhoods, particularly in those cities where subdivision development progressed too rapidly during the 1920's", Mr. Babcock said. "In many centers we are requiring developers to show conclusively that their projects are ripe for development."

Situation General
"While the overproduction of lots has not been characteristic of the building industry in every city, the situation is general enough to necessitate the exercise of great care in approving loans."

"In cities in which we find a dearth of good residential subdivisions, we are encouraging builders to open new neighborhoods. In other cities our policy is directed toward rehabilitating or aiding in the development of partially built up areas. This policy tends to discourage premature subdivisions of land and its accompanying evils."

"There are instances, even in communities where overproduction is most pronounced, in which we find it wise to accept loans in new neighborhoods. Few cities, for example, have adequate subdivision developments for small houses, and we have found it advisable to sanction many neighborhoods of this type."

The need for adequate subdivisions for small houses has been accentuated, Mr. Babcock said, by the fact that in many existing neighborhoods, the excessive cost of improvements has driven the price of lots above the level practicable for development with inexpensive homes.

Orderly Growth
In other cases new subdivisions are considered to be justified because of the presence of some natural feature which makes the neighborhood particularly attractive and assures its success. When such conditions prevail in the new community, the Federal Housing Administration accepts loans for insurance, regardless of the existence of neighborhoods for substantially similar houses.

The Federal Housing Administration also accepts loans in new neighborhoods when existing neighborhoods contain latent sources of blight which cannot be readily removed. Where examination and study reveal that the causes of blight are ingrained in the very structure of the older subdivision, it is adjudged that there is justification for the opening of new areas and previously unsubdivided land.

The Federal Housing Administration is attempting in this manner to discourage the premature development of new neighborhoods and to encourage orderly and logical city growth. The precautions taken should do much to prevent the overproduction of residential lots, which was one feature of the last building boom.

FHA IS PERMANENT
The National Housing Act is permanent legislation, and the Federal Housing Administration is a permanent governmental agency. Treasury guarantees of Housing Administration insurance of home mortgages continues until July 1939, but insurance of home mortgages continues with a fund that now totals $15,000,000. This fund is increasing at the rate of $500,000 each month.

House of English Design Has Grace, Balance

Design 225-A, National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

AN ENGLISH design which has grace and balance has been selected for this attractive home which contains five rooms.

The exterior is pleasing and the rooms well arranged, as can be seen by looking at the interior plans. The garage is attached, a convenience that many people now prefer. An entrance is made from the garage directly into the house.

There is an entrance hall with large living room with hearth. Back of the living room is a broad terrace which makes for pleasant outdoor living in the warmer weather. A good-sized dinette and handsomely arranged kitchen completes the lower floor.

Above are two large chambers, bath and more than usual closet space, which will please the mistress of the house.

The size of the main building is 44 feet by 25 feet six inches, size over all, 46 feet by 31 feet three inches. Cubic contents of the house is 18,000 cubic feet; garage and porch, 4,000 cubic feet, total 22,000 cubic feet.

FOLDING STAIRS CONVENIENT FOR SMALL HALLWAY

For the small house that has not room for a stairway to the attic, there is a disappearing stairway on the market. It slides up into the ceiling when not in use and is released by the pulling of a chain.

Steel cables winding on spring drum balance the weight and keep it from flying up and down. It is stable and does not give one the feeling that he will fall while going upstairs.

This type of equipment may be incorporated in the small home built under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

ONE-FAMILY HOMES LEAD NEW BUILDING

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Out of 45,154 dwelling units constructed during the first quarter of 1937, 25,993 were in the one-family class, according to a survey of the building field made by Business Week.

An analysis showed that the majority of the building was carried on in suburban areas, with the states of New York, California, Texas, Pennsylvania, and Michigan leading the field.

Proper Setting Adds To Attractiveness of Home

Landscaping plays an important part in the original plans for a new home. It is advisable to go into great detail on this subject at the very beginning so that there will be close harmony between the house itself and its surroundings.

The nature and scope of landscaping is generally determined by the type of home that is to be built, the size and contour of the lot, and the general surroundings. It is always advisable to utilize the services of a qualified landscape architect in effecting this detail, and the fee involved generally is compensated by the economy and arrangement of the grounds, walks, shrubs, etc.

The home that is constructed during the late Spring or early Summer has a broad field from which to select its landscaping features. The original plan, however, should not disregard the need for landscaping during the Winter, and the inclusion of evergreens, hardy plants, and shrubs is always advisable in addition to seasonal items.

With the growing trend toward a rear terrace, the back portion of the lot takes on new importance in landscaping. The vista from the porch should be taken into consideration when laying out the garden, walks, driveways, etc. Proper landscaping can add to the general beauty and, in addition, increase privacy and comfort through intelligent placement of hedges and shade trees.

The person planning a new home to be financed under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration will find it to his benefit not to overlook this important detail from the earliest stages of home building.

EXTRA EXPENSE OFTEN JUSTIFIED FOR PLUMBING

Plumbing fixtures are one feature of a house that can be relatively above the general cost of equipment with justification.

A small house may be built at low cost and financed under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration. Simple design and finishes may be used throughout without spoiling the value of the property, but cheap plumbing quickly lowers the standards of construction. While inexpensive plumbing need not be "cheap", better than average fixtures are a definite asset when the resale of the home is considered.

Built-in tubs may cost more than the old-fashioned type on legs, but when the installation is considered there is little difference, because walls and floor finish can be omitted directly under and behind the built-in type. Quietness of operation is the main difference between various types of toilets of reliable make.

Lavatories may be had in a variety of materials, and those of the less expensive type, with reasonable care, will give good service.

Questions and Answers

Q. What combination of building materials may be used for a Colonial house?

A. Many excellent examples of Colonial homes have combined wood and stone, wood and brick, brick and stone, or used a combination of all three of these materials. Restraint and simplicity are characteristics of this style of architecture, however, and care and proper study should be exercised where more than one material is used. Your design as well as the availability and quality of materials should guide you in your choice.

Q. How can cracks and breaks in stucco be repaired?

A. They can be repaired by carefully removing all loose stucco around the break or crack as well as the surface to which stucco is applied. In preparing cracks for stucco, they should be chipped to a wedge shape, with the smaller edge of the wedge on the outside, to insure a strong key with the new material. A cement mortar or a prepared stucco is then applied, care being taken to obtain same texture as already exists on the building. To match colors of old and new stucco is at times quite difficult and for that purpose many special stucco paints of any color desired may be sprayed or brushed on the entire wall surfaces after patching, thereby sealing all cracks and insuring a uniform appearance throughout.

Q. What type of heating equipment would you recommend for a bungalow that is to be used from late Spring through early Fall?

A. For "late Spring through early Fall" a space heater burning coal, wood, or oil should supply sufficient heat. Numerous such stoves are now manufactured that are pleasing in appearance and produce satisfactory results. This type of heater has the advantage of occupying but little space and is readily installed and easily removed when not in use. If a fireplace is to be built, a fireplace heater may be built in with warm-air ducts carrying the heated air to other rooms.

WORK SPACE NEEDED IN SMALL KITCHENS

When a small kitchen is planned in a house, care should be taken to provide adequate table work space. Low-priced homes such as may be financed under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration frequently have a minimum kitchen space, and care should be taken to have room for the proper preparation of food.

the Federal Housing Administration. MICHIGAN REPORTS LACK OF HOUSES

DETROIT, Mich.—A state-wide housing shortage, particularly for accommodations in the medium- and lower-priced brackets, is causing business and civic leaders to study the provisions of the National Housing Act for possible solution of the situation. The State Director for the Federal Housing Administration in Michigan reports that his office is constantly consulted by representatives from cities in every section of the state. Industrial communities appear to be affected most seriously.

New Loan Is Checked With Care

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 10—Need for the exercise of caution in the further subdivision of land until the present stock of lots in existing subdivisions is utilized was emphasized today by Frederick M. Babcock, Director of the Federal Housing Administration's Underwriting Division.

Estimates compiled recently by the administration indicate that at the present rate of utilization the stock of residential building lots created during the last building boom will be sufficient to meet the needs of normal city growth in many cities during the next two or three decades. "We are proceeding cautiously with the acceptance of loans in new neighborhoods, particularly in those cities where subdivision development progressed too rapidly during the 1920's," Mr. Babcock said. "In many centers we are requiring developers to show conclusively that their projects are ripe for development."

Situation General
"While the overproduction of lots has not been characteristic of the building industry in every city, the situation is general enough to necessitate the exercise of great care in approving loans."

"In cities in which we find a dearth of good residential subdivisions, we are encouraging builders to open new neighborhoods. In other cities our policy is directed toward rehabilitating or aiding in the development of partially built up areas. This policy tends to discourage premature subdivisions of land and its accompanying evils. "There are instances, even in communities where overproduction is most pronounced, in which we find it wise to accept loans in new neighborhoods. Few cities, for example, have adequate subdivision developments for small houses, and we have found it advisable to sanction many neighborhoods of this type."

The need for adequate subdivisions for small houses has been accentuated, Mr. Babcock said, by the fact that in many existing neighborhoods, the excessive cost of improvements has driven the price of lots above the level practicable for development with inexpensive homes.

Orderly Growth
In other cases new subdivisions are considered to be justified because of the presence of some natural feature which makes the neighborhood particularly attractive and assures its success. When such conditions prevail in the new community, the Federal Housing Administration accepts loans for insurance, regardless of the existence of neighborhoods for substantially similar houses.

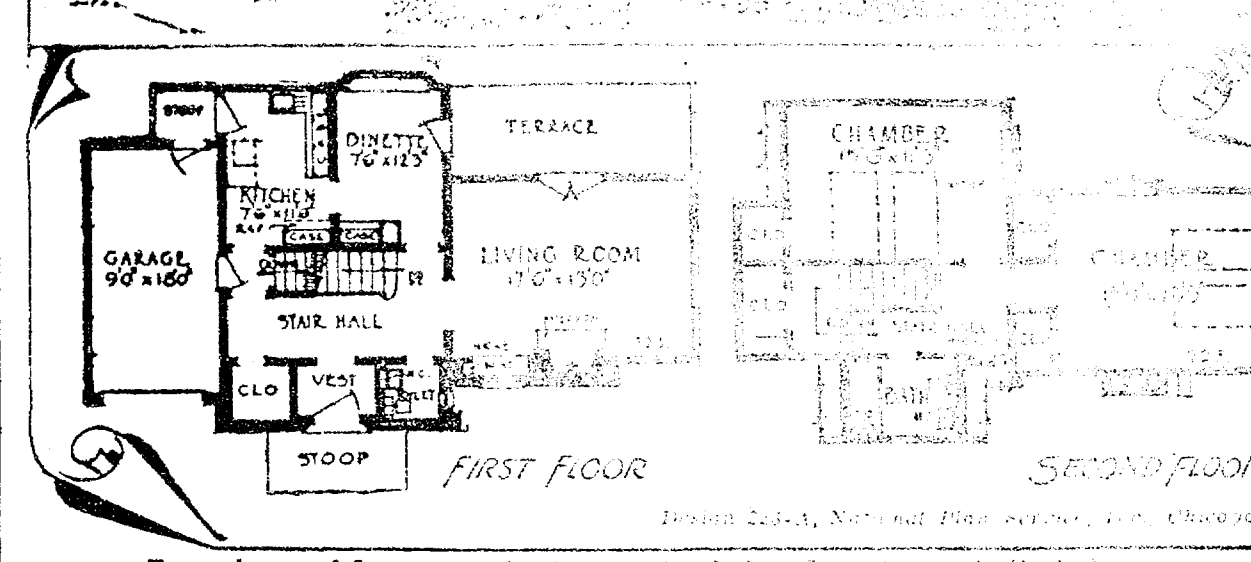

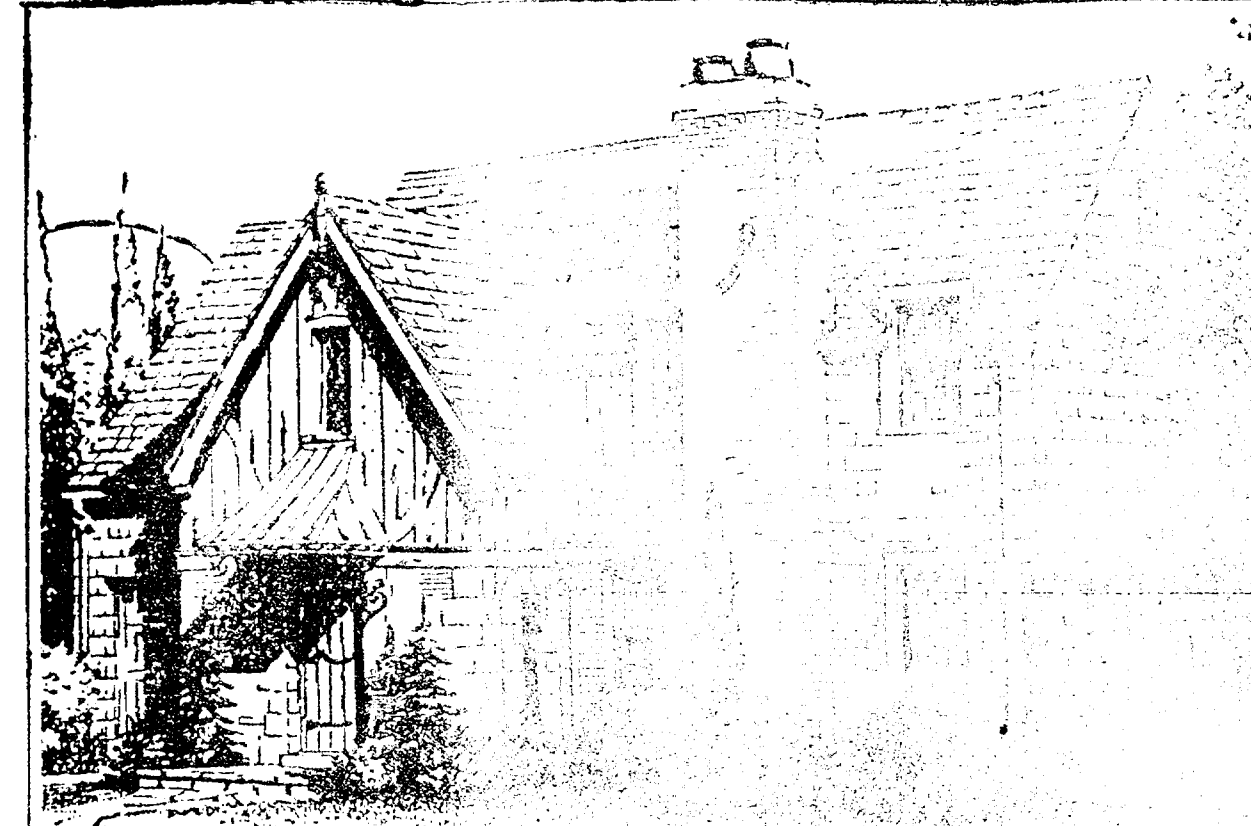

The Federal Housing Administration also accepts loans in new neighborhoods when existing neighborhoods contain latent sources of blight which cannot be readily removed. Where examination and study reveal that the causes of blight are ingrained in the very structure of the older subdivision, it is adjudged that there is justification for the opening of new areas and previously subdivided land.
